Dog Receives Honor Citation

Hero Saved Owners Last December

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (AP) — "Katie saved our lives twice."

"If she hadn't aroused us, we would've died in bed. Then we passed out, and we would've died there on the floor if it hadn't been for her."

Katie is a dachshund — and a brave one. She won a medal and a citation for distinguished dog heroism Thursday for her courage the night she saved her owners, Capt. and Mrs. Victor H. Vogel, from carbon monoxide poisoning.

A faulty flue on a new furnace sent fumes into the home here where the U.S. public health officer and his wife were asleep last Dec. 13. Katie somehow knew the odorless gas was filling the house.

"We had her in a bedroom near ours because she had a little litter of eight puppies," said Capt. Vogel. "In the night she started making such a disturbance she woke us up and my wife went to see what was wrong."

"My wife said she felt sick. I jumped out of bed and caught her as she fell—and then I passed out too."

"The next thing I knew, Katie was jumping all over Mrs. Vogel and me, licking our faces and nuzzling us. I got up and managed to open a French door and we dragged ourselves outside."

Then, as Vogel lay in a half-faunt on the lawn, Mrs. Vogel remembered the puppies. She reentered the gas-filled home and brought them safely out in a waste basket.

Firemen gave the Vogels oxygen and they recovered. So did Katie and her puppies. Thursday, at fire headquarters, Katie — pedigree name Kandi Kate—got her reward.

Officials of a dog food firm gave their national dog bravery award to Katie. "She can't read the citation," said Vogel. "But she can sure use the rest of the award."

The award included 50 pounds of dog food.

limited brush fire war could ignite a raging combat threatening to engulf the whole world—conceivably even a universally dreaded all-out atomic conflict.

This tough new U.S. attitude toward Red China's militarism was officially disclosed at Newport, R.I., Thursday by a top U.S. authority.

This official briefed some 70 newsmen at the summer White House after Secretary of State Dulles flew there for a lengthy conference with President Eisenhower on the China crisis.

Briefs 70 Newsmen

The briefing expanded on a strongly worded U.S. policy statement authorized by Eisenhower and read to reporters by Dulles. The combination provided the strongest U.S. warning yet to Red China not to carry out its threat of attack against Nationalist-held islands in the Formosa Strait.

The statement said: 1. Eisenhower would order "timely and effective" action if he decided any Red Chinese attack on the offshore islands threatened Formosa, the Nationalist headquarters which the United States is pledged by treaty to defend.

2. Eisenhower has reached no such decision yet, but would not hesitate to make it if circumstances warranted.

Endangers World

3. Any Red Chinese extension of its territory by force endangers the whole free world, and "acquiescence therein would threaten peace everywhere."

4. Despite Red China's threats and military buildup, it is not yet certain the Communists will attack, nor is it apparent that the Nationalists would need U.S. military help to throw back any Communist attackers.

The statement called on Red China once more to renounce the use of force except in self-defense.

"The United States intends to follow that course, so far as it is concerned," the statement said, "unless and until the Chinese Communists, by their acts, leave us no choice but to react in defense of the principles to which all peace-loving governments are dedicated."

Brick Work at YW Will Be Speeded

Bricklayers are expected to converge on the Salem YWCA building on N. Lincoln Ave. Saturday morning to resume the task of completing the brick work at the new structure, Thomas Griggs, building project supervisor, reported today.

It is hoped that the bricklayers can finish their work so that the YW can be completed by early October. Work was started in October last year and YWCA leaders are hopeful that an anniversary completion date can be reached.

Work crew will be on the job Saturday, according to word received by Mr. Griggs from Ray C. Shive, business agent of the bricklayers union; Paul Wolfe, business agent of the carpenters union; and Drexel Thrash, business agent for the laborers.

The interior of the building is about ready for painting and decorating.

Northern Ohio Hit by Storms

50 Evacuated By High Waters

(By The Associated Press)

At least two persons were killed — a Toledo boy when struck by lightning and a Cleveland man in an auto crash on a bridge — as thunderstorms lashed a wide area of northern Ohio Thursday night.

Fifty persons were evacuated from their homes when a section of the dam holding back Mineral Lake in Geauga County collapsed under heavy rains. Water cascaded through the streets of Middlefield, about 35 miles southeast of Cleveland, reaching a depth of three feet.

A tar-filled tank at Youngtown Sheet & Tube Co.'s coke plant in Struthers was wrecked by an explosion and fire after being struck by lightning. Five workmen suffered minor injuries. The company said damage would run into thousands of dollars.

A lightning bolt hit and killed Walter H. Nelles, 16, of the Toledo suburb of Ottawa Hills. It also set fire to the roof of the Toledo State Hospital where 150 male patients were evacuated.

Rain-slicked pavements and high winds combined to kill Joseph Suzucks, 28, on the Lorain-Carnegie Bridge near downtown Cleveland, police said. The car in which he was a passenger, skidded into another vehicle in a head-on crash. Three persons were injured.

Water Consumption, Revenue Decline

A total of 49,330,000 gallons of water was pumped in during August, bringing the 1958 total to date to 330,261,000 gallons, Aubrey Hayes, utilities superintendent, reported today.

Pumpage in August, 1957 was 51,153,070 gallons. The total pumpage through the first eight months last year amounted to 366,045,000 gallons, or some 36,000,000 more than during the corresponding period this year.

Water collections last month were $14,950.76, bringing the year's total to $120,667.62. The eight month total in 1957 was $121,926.15. Sewage collections last month totaled $7,380.95. The 1958 total to date is $60,317.46. Last year it was $62,304.71.

Total Registration Is 2,023

Enrollment Hiked 110 In Elementary Schools

Elementary school enrollment on Thursday in the city public schools was an increase of 110 over registration on opening day of school last year, Superintendent E. S. Kerr said today.

Total enrollment this year is 2,023 compared with 1,913 in 1957. Four of the city's five elementary schools showed slight drops in attendance yesterday, but the decrease was far overshadowed by an increase in registration at Fourth Street School of 211 pupils.

Fourth Street School this year was converted into an all-elementary school. Previously it had housed lower grades and junior high school classes. The latter, along with ninth grade classes, will be held at the old high school building.

Congestion Relieved
A redistricting of most rural pupils south of Salem was executed this year to relieve congestion at some of the buildings, especially at Reilly School.

Many of the bus children were transferred to Fourth Street School partially accounting for the increased enrollment there.

Junior high school students will not begin classes until Monday because of a delay in moving equipment to the old high school.

Opening of the senior high school which previously had been set back to Monday because of the tardiness in receipt and installation of equipment, has been delayed another week, to Sept. 15, Mr. Kerr announced today.

Elementary enrollment by school compared with last year's registration on opening day follows:

	1958	1957
Buckeye	246	268
Fourth Street	482	271
McKinley	342	345
Prospect	344	352

Chiang's Supply Line Shut Off By Communists

Nationalists Call for Clear U.S. Statement

TAIPEI (AP)—The Chinese Nationalists said today the Communist blockade of Quemoy is tightening and they soon may need help to keep their supply lines open.

Rear Adm. Liu Hoh-tu, chief Nationalist military spokesman, refused to tell newsmen whether U.S. warships might be asked to escort supply convoys to the islands just off the Communist mainland.

There have been persistent rumors that ships of the U.S. 7th Fleet would soon start escort duty to the offshore islands.

Dispatch Vessels

Dispatch of U.S. vessels to guard Quemoy-bound convoys would send the ships across Red China's new 12-mile sea limit. The Peiping government has indicated it would regard such action an invasion of its territory.

Liu's remarks followed Thursday's reported U.S. decision to help defend Quemoy and Matsu against any Communist invasion—possibly by bombing Red bases on the China mainland.

The Chinese Nationalist Foreign Ministry, which has flatly rejected Red China's new sea border, today called for the United States to make a clear-cut statement on whether it would help the Nationalists defend Quemoy and Matsu.

Official Warning

President Eisenhower's official warning to the Communists Thursday said only that U.S. forces would help fight for the offshore islands if he felt they were vital to the defense of Formosa.

(In Moscow, Pravda warned that the Communists would retaliate throughout the Far East if the China coast is attacked, but the kind of retaliation was not spelled out.)

The importance of the Quemoy islands to the Nationalists was underlined by Liu's disclosure that they have 100,000 troops there. This is far higher than previously believed.

Jordan will be sentenced Monday morning by Judge Tobin.

Adm. Nimitz Recalls U.S. Navy's Growth

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Nuclear warfare to a veteran of 57 years active naval service, Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, means new tools with the same function. Contemplating the anniversary of his appointment to the Naval Academy at Annapolis Sept. 7, 1901, the white-haired World War II commander of the Pacific scanned the foggy Golden Gate from his sunny garden home in the Berkeley Hills and offered some discerning thoughts on nuclear weapons and missiles and atomic-powered submarines.

"I've seen the nucleus of the Navy change from the battleship to the aircraft carrier — the most concentrated unit of power we have now — and I hesitate to say what the Navy will be built around in the years to come."

Famed For Skill

The 73-year-old admiral, famed in World War II for his sound judgment and tactical skill, recalls he was given his first submarine command, the Plunger, in 1909.

"The submarine is the one type of vessel in our Navy today that is least vulnerable to nuclear attack," he said. "And the advent of nuclear power has tremendously increased the offensive power of submarines."

"They are much faster, dive far deeper, and have much greater ability to evade attackers than the old submarines."

"If you try to visualize the Navy in the years to come you can bet there'll be submarines."

Columbiana Factory Hit By Lightning

COLUMBIANA — During last night's storm two lightning bolts hit the 80-foot stack of Enterprise Company's power plant in Columbiana.

Several feet of the brick stack tumbled down on the high pressure boiler plant below and electrical sub-station, knocking out the plant's power and heating system.

Robert Stiller of RD, Columbiana, watchman on duty, was in the boiler room at the time and witnessed the two bolts and crashing of the debris from above. He was not hurt. The accident occurred about 8:25 p.m.

Plant supervisors and members of the Columbiana Fire Department were on the scene almost immediately and took accident preventive measures by roping off the area and providing emergency flood lights.

William K. Stamets Jr., president and general manager, announced that plant operations would be discontinued Friday, but it is expected that with the aid of the Columbiana Electric Department, it should be running almost on full time basis Monday.

The Diamond Steel Company of Youngstown is engaged to remove half of the 80-ft. stack and rebuild it. Insurance covers the damage.

The service unit of Columbiana's American Legion Benjamin Firestone Post No. 290 provided hot coffee and sandwiches to the firemen who were standing by to prevent further damage. Doughnuts were donated by the Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority and Coughlin's Coffee Shop.

'Right-to-Work' Supporters Slightly Behind on Early Polls

WASHINGTON (AP)—A foe of right-to-work proposals contended today right-to-work sponsors in Ohio "have fallen down badly in selling their case."

John Redding, director of the National Council for Industrial Peace, told a reporter he based his opinion on about 35 or 40 polls taken in Ohio.

Redding predicted that the right-to-work proposal, outlawing the union shop, will be defeated by Ohio voters this fall. He said Ohio polls he has studied show opinions on right-to-work are running about "neck and neck" but about 40 percent of those polled are undecided.

"That uncommitted group is favorable to us," Redding said. "It shows a lot of voters are unconvinced."

"Right-to-work people have been working at it a lot longer than we have and have spent a lot more money. We haven't shot our wad."

Redding's recently formed organization is headed by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and former Sen. Herbert Lehman (D-N.Y.).

Redding said a committee in Ohio affiliated with his organization "won't start to roll until next Monday." He said the committee will go in for a lot of door-to-door campaigning all over the state.

Plans by the council to send in any outside speakers to Ohio, he said, still are in the formative stage. However, he said it's quite possible that Mrs. Roosevelt will campaign against the issue there after returning from a vacation in Europe Oct. 1.

The proposal has disturbed statewide Republican candidates for office in Ohio. They fear it will bring out a heavy labor vote against the GOP. However, Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio) plans to make a speech during his reelection campaign in which he will state his own views on the issue and whether he thinks the voters should vote for or against it.

So far, Bricker won't say which way he will go.

Grand Jury Indicts Joseph Sabatino, 67

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—The Mahoning County Grand Jury has indicted 67-year-old Joseph Sabatino on two counts of manslaughter.

Sabatino had been charged with two counts of first-degree murder in a shooting that stemmed from a feud over a swimming pool in a neighbor's yard.

Sabatino had pleaded innocent to the first-degree murder charges in Municipal Court.

Police said Sabatino sprayed shots from a gun into a crowd at the swimming pool July 20. Killed were Roland E. Page, 30, and Mrs. Pauline Mae Little, 34, wife of Sabatino's neighbor.

In another case, the grand jury indicted a former roofers union official for theft of $5,974 in union funds.

Indicted was Thomas Golubich (age not available), former financial secretary and business agent of Local 71 here.

Golubich resigned June 2. He reportedly paid back $1,100. Union officials went to Prosecutor Thomas A. Bell a week ago complaining of a shortage they said resulted from Golubich pocketing dues he collected from members.

Bell took the case direct to the grand jury. Golubich is not at present in custody.

Altogether the grand jury returned 52 true bills and 6 no bills.

New Mexico Facing Mixup on Resolution

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—Secretary of State Natalie Buck has a problem.

The last Legislature passed a resolution calling for an election Nov. 4 on an absentee voting proposal. It would change Section 1 of Article VII of the state constitution.

But, through a typographical error, the enrolled and engrossed copy that is to go to the voters changes it to Section 2, which would put the wrong section before the people for voting.

Mrs. Buck appealed to the State Supreme Court. It would have nothing to do with it. Not enough time before election, the court said.

Now Mrs. Buck has appealed to the attorney general. She wants to know just what to do about the mixup. There's no answer yet.

Report Issued on Programs Administered by ASC Office

Everett A. Fishel of East Rochester, recently elected to his 20th consecutive term as a Columbiana County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committeeman, has issued a report on current programs administered through the county office located in the Farmers National Bank Building in Lisbon.

The county office sent 25,000 pieces of mail to promote and follow through with the six government programs in which the county participates. An addressograph recently installed is expected to decrease the work load of the office personnel.

Aside from district instructional meetings held as the need arises, the county office is periodically visited by Robert McClester, farmer field man for this district which is made up of nine counties. There is always an item of importance that is awaiting his advice, Mr. Fishel said.

A one-year statistics on programs of the local group are:

In the wool program 97 farmers applied and received incentive wool payments. Over 1,200 farmers signed up for 1,375 practices in the agricultural conservation program and 1,055 completed their practices and received government cost-share payments.

Approximately 2,400 allotments were prepared and mailed to farmers in the corn program, the same number for wheat allotments and wheat marketing quotas. Although price support is still available, there has been very little participation in this program for the last two years.

Columbiana County has had better than average participation in the soil bank program. 379 farmers having 650 agreements or contracts in the acreage reserve or conservation reserve, ninety-eight percent of these soil bank payments either have been paid or will be in the near future. That percentage indicates the good record of performance and compliance by soil bank operators.

Changes in the soil bank program for 1953 are:

Wheat and corn acreage reserve, one year agreements, will not be available in 1953; conservation reserve, 3-5-10 year contracts, will have incentive features in which a farm operator might be interested; the average rate per acre for Columbiana County will be $14.50; any farmer interested in the rate for his farm should apply at the ASC county office in Lisbon not later than Oct. 10.

Farmers may still sign up in the agricultural conservation program for practice they are going to perform this fall, Fishel said.

The only former United States President buried in Arlington National Cemetery is an Ohioan, William Howard Taft, Cincinnati.

Election Board Group To Attend Conference

The Columbiana County Election Board expects to send a five-man delegation to a summer conference scheduled at Cleveland Sept. 11-13 by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown in preparation for the Nov. 4 general election.

The group will include: Atty. James L. McSweeney of Wells-ville, T. Emerson Smith of Salem, C. L. Stacey and Don R. Gosney of Columbiana, all members of the board, and Frank R. O'Hanlon of East Liverpool, clerk. Stacey is chairman. He and Gosney are Democrats and McSweeney, Smith and O'Hanlon are Republicans.

Principal speakers at the meeting in the Pick-Carter Hotel will be Judge Kingsley A. Taft of the Ohio Supreme Court and Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze of Cleveland.

The Book of Revelation in the Bible is called the Apocalypse because the word revelation is derived from revelation. Latin equivalent for the Greek apokalypsis, both words meaning "uncovering or unveiling."

Dale Leipper Reports On IGY Meeting

Facts In Ocean Science Traced By Ex-Salemite

By DR. DALE F. LEIPPER
(Director, Department of Oceanography and Meteorology at Texas A&M College)
(Written for the Associated Press)

Thirteen months of systematic observation of the earth's fluid envelope — the atmosphere and the ocean — were summarized as part of a recent gathering of world scientists in Moscow.

Some 50 research vessels are involved in the marine research program and expeditions have been conducted in all the world's oceans. Surveys lasted as long as nine months. Since time is required after an expedition to prepare the data for distribution, it's still too early in the 18-month International Geophysical Year period which began July 1, 1957, for comprehensive results to become available.

The same is true for meteorology with its far-flung network of regular and special observation stations.

BUT IT IS OBVIOUS from the discussions at Moscow, at the meeting of the special committee for the International Geophysical Year, that the IGY period has begun a new era of international co-operation in oceanography and meteorology.

And many new tools have been perfected. One of these is the swallow float developed in Great Britain. This is a device which will float and may be tracked at a fixed ocean depth giving direct current measurements. With it has been detected a reverse flow under the gulf stream of comparable speed.

Another most important device is an accurate indicator of ocean salt content, using the electrical conductivity of sea water as a basis. In meteorology, instruments movements have many other kinds of significance such as in the disposal of radioactive waste materials.

METEOROLOGISTS have been making special efforts to attain greater and greater altitudes with their sounding balloons and have added to the normal 60-80,000 feet heights, some 20,000 feet of altitude with temperature information. They have used rockets and satellites from even greater heights. They have added new observation stations.

A final grouping of IGY results in oceanography and meteorology may be made under the heading of chemical and radioactivity studies. Here, for example, measurements of the amount of carbon dioxide in the air and surface water layers indicate the influence of large industrial areas — which produce carbon dioxide by burning petroleum products — upon the natural environment. The amount of carbon dioxide in the atmosphere modifies climate by affecting the transfer of heat.

The difficulties of describing the oceans on a simultaneous time basis seem almost insurmountable. In the past, data from many decades often were combined to give a picture of conditions in a given area. The systematic work of the IGY provides one fairly comprehensive picture in a single year.

Good indications have thus been obtained that the significant features of the ocean temperature, its circulation, and other characteristics do vary from year to year. Such changes have effects upon world climate, food supply, and navigation.

In some specific areas, notably the North and Northeast Atlantic, more intensive investigations were carried on. In this case many countries, working through the international council for exploration of the sea, were able to define much more closely the general position and variability of the polar front — the southern boundary of a cold water mass which greatly influences the entire ocean circulation.

ANOTHER GROUP of IGY studies in oceanography and meteorology is related to the heat budget of the earth. This is the mechanism by which solar radiation is received, absorbed, stored, and emitted from the oceans and the atmosphere. It is the basis of the world's weather and climate.

During IGY, oceanographers have been measuring temperature and related variables at all depths to the ocean floor in an effort to trace more fully the movements of the masses which are the earth's great storehouses of heat. (These movements have many other kinds of significance such as in the disposal of radioactive waste materials.)

METEOROLOGISTS have been making special efforts to attain greater and greater altitudes with their sounding balloons and have added to the normal 60-80,000 feet heights, some 20,000 feet of altitude with temperature information. Leetonia Hot Stove League Sets Up Playoff Schedule

LEETONIA — The Hot Stove League season came to a close this past week. The Major League second round winner was Fordees. In second place was Dan Dee. A championship playoff will be held between Bertelsen, first half winner and Fordees beginning Saturday in the High School stadium and ending Sunday with a double header if necessary.

Game time Saturday is 2 p.m. and at 1:30 p.m. Sunday. The Minor League Championship was won by Nemenz Super Market who won both rounds. The second round was decided by a playoff game between Nemenz and the Citizens Bank.

STARTING with Sunday, the Worship Service at St. Paul's Lutheran Church will return to the usual hour of 10:45 a.m. preceded by the Church School at 9:30 a.m. Parents are invited to make arrangements with the Pastor for the baptism of Children at the Worship Service. The Sermon subject will be "Take Time."

The Luther League will meet Sunday evening to plan programs for the fall and winter months.

George Co. Spray Equipment Tested

EAST PALESTINE — New glaze spray equipment has had its final testing in full production at the W. S. George Pottery Co. during the past 10 days, according to Paul J. Steffens, president.

The new glaze machine, created by George Guthrie, plant superintendent, is 160 feet in length, replacing one 80 feet long.

It has the flexibility of handling both white and colored glazes, and doubles the capacity of automatic glazing of ware in Plant 1. Since this has proven successful in production, it will now be practical to produce colored glaze ware for chain stores here. The colored ware had formerly been produced in the Cannonsburg, Pa. plant.

At the present time, new drying equipment for the clay shop is undergoing its first limited production run. This equipment was also designed by Mr. Guthrie, to speed drying which will increase production from jigger machines. This is an important factor in continuity of working full days, and is the first step in lowering clay shop costs.

During the past 30 days, the following new sales representatives have been appointed by the company: Bart Mellon, Kentucky; O. Hurst, Washington and Oregon; Roy Latt, Missouri and Kansas; and Tom Curley, New England states.

Most drain openers are made with chemicals that can cause immediate injury to the skin. In S. P. D., the caustic grains are all coated with a film of pine oil. This coating prevents caustic action until S. P. D. is dissolved in water; it does not hinder the effectiveness in the drain.

Will Form a Soft Soap
Drain openers made with caustic soda will convert grease into a hard-to-dissolve soap. The caustic potash used in S. P. D. is a more expensive ingredient, but it makes an important difference. S. P. D. changes grease to soft soap that dissolves and flushes away so much more easily.

Works As Root Killer
Far beyond the traps in the drain, S. P. D. does another important job. The roots of trees and shrubs that may penetrate into tile or iron pipes are killed by S. P. D. Regular use of this super-duty drain opener dissolves dead roots and inhibits growth of new ones...

The Highways In Salem's Future

When local city officials and civic leaders go to New Philadelphia Sept. 13 to talk over the proposed Route 62 relocation plans with State Highway Division Engineer William Quicksall they might take advantage of the audience to size up the Salem situation with respect to future highway planning.

The meeting has been scheduled to "talk shop" with respect to Route 62 and drive home the local delegation's demand that the relocation of the important highway be made close to Salem.

However, a conference with Mr. Quicksall also might be able to shed some light on such questions as:

What about the westward completion of the Route 45 relief route south of Salem?

What about the promised Route 62 relief route north of Salem?

What about the further completion of the north bypass so that it would tie in with Alternate Route 14 east of town?

What about the feasibility of extending the south bypass eastward to link with Route 14 so that, eventually, Salem would have a circumferential system of highways that not only would carry present and future traffic loads but would add immeasurably to the city's future growth?

What about state financial aid in the resurfacing of Lincoln and Ellsworth Avenues which, with State Street, carry the brunt of transient traffic? State Street was resurfaced last year.

These are not just hypothetical questions but matters of extreme importance to Salem's pattern of growth for the golden years that lie ahead. The local committees are showing a united front and perhaps their foresight and energies will be transformed into something tangible.

A Showdown on Firm Principles

One of the objections of Southerners to Northern comment on their problems over race segregation is that Northerners do not understand the problems; therefore, they should not pass judgment on them.

The same thing could be said by Northerners with equal conviction about the problems of Constitutional Law and Supreme Court procedure that have been raised by the circumstances in Little Rock.

Northerners wonder whether Southerners, except for those who try conscientiously to grasp the legal problems involved, understand why it is more important to uphold the Constitution and the Supreme Court than it is to try to accommodate and appease Southern prejudice against school integration.

In effect, the recalcitrant Southerners in this issue are arguing that the Constitution should be what they want it to seem to be, whereas their opponents are arguing that the Constitution is what the Supreme Court rules that it is, because there is no other way to maintain a government of law.

If there is to be a head-on clash between equally firm principles, the principle that the Supreme Court's authority must be upheld must be placed above any other principle in conflict with it.

If this means that Southern schools in areas where educational authority refuses to abandon segregation must remain closed, it would be a high price. But it would not be too high a price to pay for the maintenance of the principle that the Supreme Court's rulings on Constitutional law must be respected.

There has been from the beginning of this great argument one possibility of resolving the issue that has not been discussed.

This would be a proposal to repeal the key section of the 14th Amendment, which says: "All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States, nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the law."

It is argued by Southerners and others similarly interested in attacking the Supreme Court's authority to order school integration that this amendment has no bearing on the matter; that the amendment, itself, was improperly ratified and should not be in the Constitution.

If they really believe this, they should ask for a showdown on the 14th Amendment, in the form of a proposed amendment that would satisfy their point of view. The matter then could be cleared up for all time, in the South, in the North, in the East and in the West.

The fact is, however, that the Southerners are less concerned about the Constitution and the Supreme Court, than they are concerned about integration. They know they could not win a showdown on the 14th amendment.

Be A Booster

Salem High School football and basketball teams posted enviable records last season and, psychologically, the Salem Boosters Club played a vital but unsung role in the victories that were theirs.

The Boosters, staunch and loyal in their support of the school athletic programs, have opened a fall membership campaign, seeking to enroll all former members and newcomers who are interested in promoting and helping to maintain a wholesome scholastic athletic program that will reflect favorably on the entire community.

It has been through the efforts of these "downtown quarterbacks" that the local sports picture has brightened in recent years. The Boosters deserve some small credit for the impressive 9-1 record that the Quaker football team put on the books last fall and the first unbeaten season which the basketball squad registered.

You, too, can be a Booster. Join today. Martin Debnar of 1259 E. Pershing St., president of the organization, will be happy to give you a membership card.

As soon as you get back from vacation, we dare you to try to figure out where all that money went.

Once Over

Bob Sarnoff, head of NBC, proposes that something be done about getting a "Voice of America" to Americans. Curious airwave situation is that, while millions are being spent by the government to give the American scene to Europe and Asia, the picture is well kept from Americans.

U.N. emergency sessions revealing dangers vital to every American and Senate inquiries exposing evils affecting every citizen in one way or another get sidetracked by commercial stations for Romper Room, Bugs Bunny, Bingo At Home and Life With Elizabeth.

Goldfame hearings didn't get much more airwave coverage than the "Late Lunch Movie." All important issue of Khrushchev and Chou En-lai may do next is always topped on radio and TV by issue of Abbott & Costello's next movie.

SARNOFF SEEMS to be the first airwave to realize this is silly and he proposes to do something so that Americans hear at least as much about their country as Russians, Bulgarians, Arabs, Hottentots and Tunisians.

He calls for agreement by the three-major stations to take turns giving adequate coverage of investigations, conventions, U.N. all-situation in which Mr. and Mrs. America, whose lives could be vitally affected by critical world events, are denied all but skimpiest information over the air.

WHILE THERE IS plenty of squawking over the fact Communist world "jams" our "Voice of America," there has been little yelling over "jamming" of a similar voice by our own radio and TV policies. Radio and TV are not in business for health and can't cancel out cash customers.

You may blow your stack over the picture of a man plugging a bottle of beer at a moment when the fate of nations is being discussed.

You may tear your hair trying to tune into a picture of the gangster grip on American life and getting only a sales pitch for a six-month floor wax. But you'll get your first relief when Mr. Sarnoff's proposal goes over. Who knows? The time may come when picturing of mobsters, killers, thieves and all-around baddies nosethumbing at the government may be as easy to see as "Five Star Matinee" or some housewife winning a Honolulu vacation for knowing the first name of Lincoln!

New Facts On an Old Fight

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

MIDLAND, Texas—At the gruesome hour of 7 a.m., in Midland, Tex., of all places, a reminiscent face, slightly more weathered and seamed, peered through the window of the coffee shoppe and a voice out of the past hollered, "What you doing here?"

Teddy Hayes came rushing in. When last seen he was personal equerry to Ed. Flynn, who took Jim Farley's place in the Roosevelt regime from the third term on.

"I want to straighten you out about that night before the Derby in Louisville in 1930," he said. "Maybe you didn't make it to the ring side."

"I certainly was there," I said. "and I saw that Polak nail Mike on the button the first ten seconds and I saw you run around the ring and hit the bell with that coke bottle. And saw you and Jack Kearns hop up in there and start that riot."

"WELL, ANYWAY," Teddy insisted, "you didn't get all of it. It started when the Louisville American Legion offered Kearns $7,500 for a package deal. Mickey Walker was middleweight champion and we had a heavyweight named Al Fay. He was eating those doormat Steaks and the ketchup alone was running into money so we agreed to let Mike fight a Canadian named Pat Dillon 10 rounds, no decision, and we threw in Fay to fight anybody they could find.

"We were all in Chicago and three nights before the Louisville date we went down to catch the train and Mike saw Paul Swiderski coming along the platform.

"Mike said 'what is that guy doing here?' I said 'go on in and get some sleep.' I didn't tell him the Candian guy broke a hand and we agreed to take Swiderski. I didn't want to worry him. Swiderski was a very tough man.

Mike was fat as a goose, a belly like a hot water bottle, but I figured Paul and Harry Lenny, his manager, you remember Lenn an Italian guy from the west side, I figured they were sensible business men so I went to their car after Mike dozed off and I told Paul 'now be nice, Paul; ten rounds of scientific boxing and if you get out in front, why pull up a little and later on we will give you a big shot in New York and let you make some money.' I thought the Polak would be nice and the next day I told Mike so, but he said 'I don't know can I trust that Polak. He knows I am out of shape and he might belt me for the title. You can't always trust an honest man like Paul.'

"WELL, LITTLE DID I suspect that anybody would be so unethical but Paul walked right straight across and smashed Mike on the chin with a right in the first 10 seconds and down Mike went, out cold. So I ran around and hit the bell with the bottle like you saw. Lenny jumped in the ring and Kearns jumped up and started for him and I jumped in and took a slug at Swiderski.

Kearns used to be a fighter in Alaska before he connected with Jack Dempsey, so he pasted Lenny a couple and the ring filled up with cops and we stalled about 15 minutes with Mike laying there on the floor most of the time. But he finally woke up and crawled up on his stool, laughing his head off.

"Well, round two, Mike rode the bike, but finally Swiderski rounded him up again and knocked him out absolutely cold right in our own corner, just as the bell rang. "We slapped him awake and gave him ammonia and stood him up for round Three and here comes that wild Polak again. So I ran up the aisle and around the corner to the switch boxes and yanked every switch I could find. The house went black and guys were lighting matches and Kearns was up in the ring and I jumped up there, too, and started pasting Lenny. It was a battle royal; no harm done. The cops got into the deal again and this time it took about half an hour to get it started again.

"Well, that Mike actually fought himself into shape. And at the end of the ninth, as he sat on the stool, Paul walked over to our house and said, 'hey, Mike, lay off the belly this round, you are murdering me down there.' So it went the limit, no decision, and we went down to the Kentucky hotel Swiderski walked in.

"MIKE YELLED, 'you Polak, I am going to get you back in Newark and knock you through the skylight.' Paul said 'no hard feelings,' but Mike said, 'tell me just one thing. Did Hayes hurt you with that punch in the first round?' Paul felt his face and looked puzzled and he said, 'Gee, I don't remember. Did you hit me, Teddy?'

"Walker said, 'that's all I wanted to know. For ten years this Bum Hayes has been telling me what a terrific puncher he is.'

"So we took Swiderski again when we got home and Mike murdered him, but some of you reporters never got the true facts straight, for posterity, about the switches and the lights and Paul complaining of those belly blows after Mike was out cold, twice.

"I been here five years," Teddy said, "selling drill bits for oil rigs. I go way up into the four corners in New Mexico, all over the oil country. I never saw anything like this boom. I never did so good before."

Mr. Hayes traveled with Dempsey down his career to the time Taylor. Kearns then tied loose, and when Dempsey married Estelle the old raucous, rollicking combination flew apart. Teddy has not seen a fight since he and Kearns had to throw in the towel for Mike against Max Schmeling at Long Island Bowl in 1933.

Proof of Intent

By DAVID LAWRENCE

'Enabling Acts' Created 10 States of Union

No more convincing proof of the intent of Congress that the federal government should never interfere with the operation of the public schools by the states is needed than the language used in the enabling acts" which, respectively, created at least 10 states of the Union.

Research by this correspondent reveals that the identical words of a brief section in the law passed by Congress in July, giving statehood to Alaska, are to be found also in the statutes that gave statehood to New Mexico, Arizona, Idaho, South Dakota, Montana, Washington, Utah, Wyoming and Oklahoma.

One reason probably why the clause—which says that the public schools and colleges "shall forever remain under the exclusive control of the state, or its governmental subdivisions"—attracted little attention when inserted in the law creating Alaska, was that this language was copied from the "enabling acts" of the other states.

The important difference today, however, is that when every one of the states that preceded Alaska into the Union was admitted, there was no question in anybody's mind about the fact that the public schools were "forever" to remain "under the exclusive control" of those states.

NO DECISION of the Supreme Court upsetting state control had been handed down prior to 1954. Now, four years later, federal judges, as in Virginia, are actually examining the applications of students seeking admission to public schools and scrutinizing their qualifications to determine whether a school board has discriminated against a Negro applicant.

Certainly it was not assumed heretofore that the public schools of any states would ever be subject to control by the federal judiciary or by the military forces of the federal government. Just a year ago, for instance, federal troops were stationed inside Central High School at Little Rock, to maintain discipline.

Even the Supreme Court of the United States has become a super-school board these days, as testimony about the misbehavior of students and the influence of their parents in the home and the state of public sentiment is being reviewed this week to determine whether there is reason to delay temporarily the entrance of Negro students into Central High School at Little Rock.

Certainly the grant by the federal government of authority to at least 10 states to maintain "exclusive control" of their own public schools, emphasizes that powers have apparently been delegated to some states which other states are not permitted to enjoy. May the Congress itself discriminate between states?

Must it not respect eventually the rights of all states to maintain "exclusive control" of their public schools as a power "reserved" to them under the 10th Amendment of the Constitution?

NO ONE OF THE STATES which enjoys immunity from federal interference under an "enabling act" needs to pass or invoke any segregation laws now, for to do might be held to violate the 14th Amendment as the Supreme Court has construed it.

But if, in the normal course of school operation, pupils are assigned to one school instead of another by county or city school boards, it would be a manifest interference by the Supreme Court or any federal court to say that the words "exclusive control" do not mean what they say and that this phrase now is amended by the 1954 decision of the Supreme Court.

The fact that Congress only two months ago still used the phrase, "under the exclusive control of the state, or its governmental subdivisions," can be taken to mean that Congress felt the Supreme Court's ruling of 1954 did not apply to acts of Congress confirming the complete power of a state over its own public schools.

Almost all the states that have the immunity clause in their "enabling acts" do not have segregation problems. The only exception is Oklahoma, which has maintained segregated schools in the past and lately has been introducing "integration" in some school districts.

THE STATE of Oklahoma can, of course, today choose to ignore the "exclusive control" clause granted when it was admitted as the 46th state in 1907, or it can test the effectiveness of the pledge given to it by the federal government.

To make such a test now, it would not be necessary to invoke any state law but simply, by the routine operation of a school board, to assign pupils to certain schools in whatever way the local authorities stipulated.

Negro applicants could then bring suit and the Supreme Court would have to decide whether a solemn pledge given by the Congress to a sovereign state can be repudiated by the federal judiciary.

If this can be done, then no provision of the "enabling act" of any state is safe from legal attack, and hosts of suits hitherto decided and involving the disposal of property, especially public lands, can be reopened and set aside whenever the whim of the federal judiciary may so decide.

Plainly, Congress, which recently has been studying whether to amend the "appellate jurisdiction" of the Supreme Court of the United States, may find it necessary to take away from the federal courts the right to pass on the validity of certain sections of the "enabling acts" under which states have been admitted to the Union.

The Constitution specifically grants to Congress the power to limit by law the "appellate jurisdiction" of the federal courts.

Purely Personal

By TRUMAN TWILL

Soon, hundreds of thousands of the same people who stayed away from other events because of distance, climate and discomforts will be crossing state lines in driving snowstorms to sit on hard boards at football games.

The thought keeps flashing through my mind that Chiang Kai-shek or any other Chinese political leader might die and be replaced by someone else using the same name and no one in the accident would be the wiser.

There finally comes a day in September or October when no one is scheduled to take a vacation and the old gang can get together around the water cooler again with one gnawing question: Who did the work last summer when the indispensable people were away?

I will listen to the advice of anyone who is qualified by experience to talk about practical matters, though observation has taught me that experience alone does not bring competence. Some people do not have enough judgment to evaluate what they have learned from experience.

Nothing is more exciting to a pupil than the resumption of school days, until school days, themselves, become as boring and deadly dull as vacation days would be if they lasted long enough. The enemy of education is boredom.

The slickest, quickest way to make a million right now would be to foresee what will plug up television's aching voids when the horse operas have worn out their welcome, which will be long before next spring.

If I were a photographer, I'd work hard on a picture of a park bench littered with fallen leaves, suggesting the emptiness and loneliness of autumn.

Statistically, the most dangerous thing anyone in this country can do is go swimming, while the safest thing to be, all things considered, is to ride in an automobile driven by a competent person.

to say that members of the opposing team were married and had children. But now it is taken for granted that some of the semi-professionals who play college football are young married men and fathers — and why not? It's a living.

When I think of the preparations already under way to start singing "I Saw Mommy Kissing Santa Claus," this Yule, I am tempted to skip the whole thing and concentrate on Arbor Day, instead of Christmas.

Best chuckle I've had for a while was a telephone call from a lady who wanted to add two types to my list of Irrepressible Bugaboos. She swears she has a friend who fashies insects on wallpaper in other people's houses, also one who has been known to slap an insect into eternity during a church service when it came to rest on the neck of a male parishioner in the pew ahead.

It is impossible for me to believe the governor of Arkansas is consciously twisting the truth in his public statements. I think he is doing what is infinitely more dangerous — convincing himself the truth is what he says it is.

Foolish as it is to complain about the weather, I am entitled to point out bitterly that only one thing I planned to do between Memorial Day and Labor Day was blessed with decent weather. On every other "special" occasion, it was rainy or windy.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Two powerful men, whose followers can paralyze the United States met secretly in Washington on the night of Monday, Aug. 25. They were James R. Hoffa and Harry Bridges.

What a fever else they have in common, they are joined by the fact that Hoffa's Teamsters' Union was expelled from the AFL-CIO on charges of corruption and Brother Bridges' West Coast Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union was expelled from the CIO on charges of fly-paper adherence to the Communist line.

The long Monday night conversation was one of a long series. Mr. Bridges plans to fly in regularly for these talks, which will intensify during this month.

At the end of the month Bridges hopes to travel to Europe and the Near East, where he will consult with Arab leaders and then on to Moscow in time for the 12th Congress of the U.S.S.R. trade unions on Oct. 27.

For such a trip to Mecca, Harry Bridges has been waiting half a turbulent pro-Communist lifetime. But he did tell Brother Hoffa that he would forego the hegira if it would interfere with the launching of a coast-to-coast organization of unions controlling America's warehousing, inland transportation, global cargo loading on both coasts — and even the crews of giant cargo and luxury liners.

ALL THIS was discussed as both men—who once vowed they'd never meet with each other—set a schedule for an East Coast conference of Waterfront, Warehouse and Teamster unions. This parley was tentatively scheduled for the first fortnight in September.

There will then be a Western conference. Then they will officially launch their Committee on Transportation Unity as an effective national outfit.

Their plans are to arrange for all their contracts with shippers, steamship and trucking lines to expire at the same moment. Should they strike then, that could well be known as the day most of the United States stood still.

Therefore the political position of Harry Bridges and the union he dominates is more than a mere conversation piece to the people of this land. Brother Bridges' home local in the ILWU is No. 6.

MAKING A CAKE

WHEN CHEF FRED BEETZ decides to make a cake, he has to put on a pair of rubber boots and get out his wood chisels. The cake is really a cake of ice which, when he gets through with it, is a decorative masterpiece. As chef at Ottawa's Chateau Laurier in the winter and at Jasper Park lodge in the summer, he has sculptured many banquet displays from cakes of ice weighing from 300 to 400 pounds. It takes him three hours to turn one out. He works in a refrigerator room. The ice can't be too cold and brittle as cracks will soon follow. Freshly cut flowers are added for the right touch.

Chef Fred Beetz examines the ingredient (left) for his ice masterpiece, then chips away with an ordinary wood chisel. Next he smooths out rounded surfaces of the ice. Finally, he adds fresh cut flowers and it's ready for a banquet.

Phot by King Features Syndicate

Pure Savagery

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The featured, elderly man drew back as if he had received a blow in the face.

"What do I think of rock 'n' roll?" he said. "Why, it's nothing but pure savagery—but the savages did it better. They used it to work themselves up to enjoy orgies or commit murders."

"Beethoven used themes as simple as rock 'n' roll themes, but he developed them. They grew. Rock 'n' roll has practically no melodic value. It is simply a monotonous, savage beat, repeated over and over."

And Dr. Sigmund Spaeth leaned back, slightly upset. He has been a top cheerleader for all kinds of music for 50 years. His 30 books range from "Great Symphonies" to "How to Play the Harmonica." But he draws the line at rock 'n' roll.

"There are limits to human tolerance," he observed.

At 73, Dr. Spaeth, who can play 10 instruments himself, is still one of America's most active drum-beaters for the appreciation of music. The noted "tune detective" delivers 50 lectures a year, travels 50,000 miles, edits "Music Journal," writes a weekly syndicated music column, serves as panelist on a radio show.

He believes the nation is in the midst of a spreading musical boom period.

"There are more people playing some kind of musical instrument now than at any other time in our history," he said.

"We've got over the silly idea that if you want to play at all you have to play well. The old-fashioned teachers used to ruin music for many of their pupils by making it a form of drudgery. They treated every student as a potential concert performer."

"That was nonsense. We need dub musicians as well as pros. Only a few have the talent to become pros."

Throughout his long career Dr. Spaeth, who began playing the piano at 5, has preached the theory that music is fun.

"If it isn't fun," he demanded, "what else can it be? People should make music for their own satisfaction, and listen to it for their own satisfaction—not merely because someone informs them it is cultural."

"Parents often ask me when they should start their children listening to good music. I tell them, 'The day a child is born.'"

You can't start much sooner."

Of the tens of thousands of musical compositions Dr. Spaeth has studied, what are his own favorites?

"It's a difficult question," he said. "But I suppose to me the greatest piece of music is Brahms' Third Symphony. I put him above Beethoven, Bach and Wagner."

"My favorite popular songs—I'll have to give three—are George Gershwin's 'The Man I Love,' Jerome Kern's 'All the Things You Are,' and Dick Rodgers' 'I Loved You.'"

Guarding Your Health

By Dr. EDWIN P. JORDAN

Questions and Answers

Burning sensations of the tongue and mouth are evidently extremely common.

Q — Is there any hope for the relief of a burning tongue?

A — It is claimed that this sensation may be related to general diseases, such as pernicious anemia, diabetes, vitamin A deficiency, or conditions in which there is a lessening of salivary output. Visible signs of irritation of the delicate mucous membrane are commonly present.

In later years, dryness of the mouth resulting from lessened secretion of saliva is particularly common. Of course, local conditions in the mouth may also be responsible. Excessive smoking an irritating substance in food or drink are other possibilities.

Q — I acquired a serious bronchial condition from mustard gas in the First World War. When the doctors said they could do nothing for me in 1950, I moved to a dry area of California. However, I seem to have less trouble in a moist area of California and wonder how this could be.

A — Conditions such as bronchitis and sinusitis are sometimes affected favorably and sometimes unfavorably by a change of climate. Apparently no one can tell in advance what climate will be of benefit, since there is a great deal of individual difference.

Hence physicians frequently advise a person who is making such change to try several climates before to choose is the one which seems to give the greatest amount of relief.

Q — Until recently I was always said to have a good figure and was in demand for modeling. I have been married for four and one-half years and have two children.

Dr. and Mrs. N. R. Pettys After each of these was born, my breasts became smaller and smaller and now I have become the butt of jokes about flat-chested women. What to do?

A — This is a curious experience, but one which I judge is fairly common. The giving of appropriate hormones occasionally produces a temporary stimulation of the growth of breast tissue, but is generally considered inadvisable.

I fear there is nothing which can be recommended as a satisfactory and safe procedure in a situation such as this.

Q — Can one take too much orange juice? In the past year I have been drinking at least eight ounces a day but find myself breaking out with eczema.

A — This sounds as though some kind of allergy to orange juice was present. Also some people find that orange juice irritates the digestive tract.

Q — I have been having trouble with spastic colon for almost 10 months. Do you feel that a pregnancy would cause any harmful effects either to the baby or mother?

A — I doubt any harm to the infant and it seems unlikely that pregnancy would hurt the mother. The condition might get better, particularly under the influence of more rest and a carefully controlled diet.

Reliefers Help Bunning Pick Up Win Over White Sox

'No Hit' Ace Wins 11-4 Game

KC Nips Indians; Red Sox Victors

(By The Associated Press)

Jim Bunning is finding the American League's no-hitter jinx a tough whammy to whip. The lean right-hander who won 20 for Detroit last season seemed to be back in form when he pitched his 3-0 no-hitter against Boston July 30. It was his sixth victory in his last seven decisions.

Since then things have been rough, just as it was for Bobo Holloman, Mel Parnell and Bob Keegan—the last three to pitch no-hitters in the AL.

Holloman got his in his first major league start with the St. Louis Browns back in 1953. He didn't complete another game in the majors and was out of business two months later.

Parnell, the hard-luck guy of the Boston Red Sox, got his in 1956—then went into self-imposed retirement because of injury less than a year later.

Keegan was the only major leaguer to pitch a no-hitter last year. The Chicago White Sox sent him to the minors this season.

Bunning hasn't been able to pitch a complete game in nine starts since his big day in Boston, and has lost four of six decisions.

Thursday he won for only the second time since the no-hitter, beating the White Sox 11-4. But he again wasn't around for the finish—after pitching perfect ball for the first four innings.

The loss dropped the Sox 12½ games behind idle New York again and reduced the Yankees' pennant-clinching magic number to nine.

Boston beat Baltimore 5-2 and Kansas City clipped Cleveland 2-1 in the only other games scheduled in the AL.

In the National League, first-pitch Milwaukee defeated Philadelphia 9-5 in 10 innings, San Francisco walloped Los Angeles 13-3 and St. Louis beat the Chicago Cubs 4-2.

Pete Runnel drove in a pair of runs for the Red Sox a Baltimore dropped into a tie for fourth with Detroit. His double tied it 2-all in the fifth, and he singled home the winner in a three-run seventh against loser Milt Pappas (9-8). Rookie Bill Monbouquette (2-4) gave up only three singles, all the Orioles managed as Murray Wall pitched a hitless three innings of relief. Both Bird runs were unearned.

Roger Maris broke up a shutout duel with his 24th home run, a two-run belt in the sixth, as the A's ended Cal McLish's winning streak at six. McLish (14-7, allowed only four hits in his seven innings, giving up a single to Bill Tuttle ahead of the homer. Ralph Terry (9-11) was the winner with a nine-hitter, losing a shutout in the eighth on Vic Power's triple and an infield single by Minnie Minoso.

Bunning had been able to pitch a complete game in nine starts since his big day in Boston, and has lost four of six decisions.

Thursday he won for only the second time since the no-hitter,

Play In Preview Tonight

Quakers Prove Strong In Line, Weak on Passing In Scrimmages

Tonight at 8:45 in Patterson Field in East Liverpool, the 1958 Salem football Quakers will tangle with the Lisbon Blue Devils in a 16-minute pre-season tussle.

One week from tonight at Reilly Stadium, the Red and Black will begin their regular season with a home inaugural against Cleveland John Marshall.

Seven of their nine games are at home. The only road tilts are Sept. 19 at Ravenna and Sept. 26 at Canton Timken.

The Quakers have three scrimmages under their belts with opposing schools.

During these scrimmages, each team runs the ball for 10 straight plays beginning at their 40-yard line. If they score on the seventh play, the ball returns to their 40 for three more plays. Each club manages about eight series of 10 plays during an average length skirmish.

No conversions are tried and games are tallied depending on the Salem defeated Boardman 3-0 a couple of weeks ago. Last Saturday morning they won over Poland 5-3. Tuesday they scrimmaged Warren Harding's Black Panthers. The outcome of this game had three different scores connected with it.

Some reports had Salem losing 3-0 or 3-1 while a third source said the final score was 1-1. The Warren newspaper had a big story to the effect that the score was 1-1. Someone else said it was 1-0 Warren.

In all three scrimmages, the Quaker machine looked good in some spots but left a lot to be desired in other places.

On offense, one of the most encouraging accomplishments has been the running of senior full-back Lou Slaby.

The 6-2, 225-pound ball totter was exceptional against Poland and Warren, consistently picking up four or five yards per carry.

amount of scores made. Pete Schmauch looked good on bursts up the middle against Poland but couldn't hold the pigskin at Warren.

Salem's defensive line has been rugged. At the same time the offensive forward wall has opened big holes in the opponent's defenses. The line play has been most encouraging but the passing game both ways has been quite weak.

Poland notched all three of its TDs on pass plays. Warren passed well against the Quakers also.

The Salem quarterbacks, Kent Melloy, Ben Jones and Vince Horning, haven't been able to throw the ball with the same authority as Moe Meissner did in 1957 when he connected for 30 aerials good for 12 touchdowns.

In conclusion, the present situation of the Quakers can be told in that their line is tough on offense and defense especially but their passing, particularly, defense-wise, needs worked on.

the three yard line also. Another major rule change states that an offensive player must use only one arm in blocking an opposing player. Mr. Reasbeck also held a question-answer session in order to clarify some of the rules.

Head Coach Earle Bruce showed movies of the Salem-Poland scrimmage and commented on the coming game with Cleveland John Marshall.

During the regular business meeting, club president Martin "Peanuts" Debnar, stated that next Wednesday the Boosters Club will clean-up the scoreboard at Reilly Field. The club purchased and erected the modern scoreboard in 1954.

Next regular meeting is scheduled for Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Memorial Building.

9-Event Card Scheduled At Canfield Oval

There will be stock car racing again at Canfield Speedway Saturday night.

Manager Charlie Findlay has booked three big feature races to headline the 9-event program.

There will be modified "bombs," foreign sports cars from the "Left-Turners" organization and the return of the hard tops.

Hard tops haven't appeared at Canfield Speedway this year and fans will get a chance to see them race for the first time.

Altogether, some 75 cars will be in the pits when time trials get rolling at 7 p.m. First race will get under way at 8:30 p.m.

Heading the field of hard tops will be Roy Edwards, Bob Cochspoke, briefly on the new pigskin run of Youngstown, Bob Bowen of rules which are in effect this year. Like Milton, Jim Kanter of Sharp-Among them is the new extra-point system, whereby a team receives one point for a kick or two points for either a run or pass. Top pilots in the district this year. All conversion tries will start at Speedsters Roy Gemberling, Nook Walters and Gus Acozili are also among the entries. It is possible that Gemberling will have both his hard top and modified "bomb" on hand.

For the "bombs," Dale Johnson of Hartford, Glen Davis of Sharpville, Norm McCarthy of Cleveland, George Lupe of Youngstown, Ron Krejci of Burton and Gib Orr of Warren head the list. Added to this outstanding group will be Pete Foltz and Bob Adkins of Canton, Jim Seese of Akron, Ernie Lowe of Akron, Jerry Dudley of New Philadelphia and Rich Bauman of Ambridge.

Carl Robson of Youngstown, James Roemer of Poland, Ron Dowl Art Simmers of Farrell, Alton Rogers of Niles and John Lee-son of Poland head the big list of foreign sports car entries.

In all there will be nine events: modified, two heat races, Australian pursuit and a 20-lap feature; hard tops - two heat duels, consolation and 20-lap feature and a 20-lapper for the sports cars.

Reasbeck Tells Boosters About New Grid Rules

A talk by the dean of area football officials highlighted the Boosters Club meeting last night.

Ray Reasbeck, who is starting his 34th year as a grid official, spoke briefly on the new pigskin rules which are in effect this year.

Among them is the new extra-point system, whereby a team receives one point for a kick or two points for either a run or pass. Top pilots in the district this year. All conversion tries will start at

Braves Score 4 Runs in 10th

Giants Whip Bums To Climb into 2nd

(By The Associated Press) When the last out was made in the All-Star Game, the National League without a hit, striking out Jensen, Skowron, Malzone and feat, Philadelphia's relief ace Dick Farrell.

He had shut out the American League without a hit, striking out Ted Williams in a near-perfect two innings that came too late.

Farrell had been just as effective for the Phillies. He had been in half their previous 30 games and had figured in more than half their 18 victories with a 5-0 record and five saves in a month-long battle from seventh place to fourth, just 2½ games shy of the lead.

He's been yesterday's hero since. He has won only once in seven decisions and has managed just four saves in 22 appearances. He's been battered for 25 earned runs in 29 innings over that span. The kid right-hander took his lumps again Thursday night, getting tagged for four runs on four hits as Milwaukee whipped the Phils 9-5 in 10 innings.

That kept the Braves' lead at nine games over San Francisco as the Giants broke a tie for second with rain-riddled Pittsburgh by walling Los Angeles 13-3. St. Louis defeated the Chicago Cubs 4-2 with Sam Jones becoming the third NL pitcher in 30 years to strike out 200 in one season.

In the American League, idle New York gained a 12½-game bulge as Detroit rapped the Chicago White Sox 11-4. Boston beat Baltimore 5-2 and Kansas City clipped Cleveland 2-1.

Willie Mays had three hits, one his 28th home run, for the Giants, who scored eight runs in the first inning. Stu Miller (5-7), the little junk man, went all the way, giving up five hits. Carl Furillo drove in all the Dodger runs, with a sacrifice fly and two-run single. Johnny Podres (12-12) lost it.

A pair of unearned runs in the fifth inning did the job for the Cards against loser Dave Hillman (4-7) as they tied Cincinnati for fourth. Jones (12-11) gave up five hits, with one Cub run unearned, and struck out eight for a total of 201. The old Cardinal hit was 199, set by Dizzy Dean in 1933. No one had fanned 200 in the NL since Johnny Vander Meer whiffed 202 with the Reds in 1941.

College Football Scrimmages Beginning Throughout Nation

(By The Associated Press) Many of the stone faces around the college football practice fields disappeared today as the coaches enter the smile or frown stage of fall practice.

With this bit of animation it can be assumed that (1) the first big scrimmage session is planned for tomorrow, and (2) the first big football Saturday can't be too far away.

The smilers include: Nebraska Coach Bill Jennings over the progress of his squad to date, and their conditioning; Murray Warmath welcoming back to his Minnesota fold fullback prospect Tom Robbins, who made a quick trip to North Dakota University to volunteer for his squad but apparently changed his mind at ND Coach Marv Helling's urging.

Others to join the list are Jim Tatum, who declared after watching movies of the first scrimmage, he had some boys on his North Carolina squad who "wanted to play football." This sentiment was also echoed by Virginia's Dick Voris, while Syracuse Coach Ben Schwartzwalder tapped quarterback Chuck Zimmerman and halfback Tom Stephens as the most improved on the squad.

A frown covered the face of Iowa State's Clay Stapleton after a sloppy afternoon workout Thursday that forced first string tackle Larry Van Der Heyden to the sideline for a few days.

Add frowner: Terry Brennan of Notre Dame when he lost center Bob Scholtz and back Bob Toth and Frank Reynolds for a week with bum legs; the Citadel's Eddie Teague when he had to shift his emphasis from offense to defense as his boys lost some of their earlier spark; Milt Bruhn of Wisconsin, who was displeased with his linemen after seeing movies of the first scrimmage.

Rain Washes Out Softball Tourney Tilts

Salem Old Dutch Beer was trailing Hubbard Ressler's Plasters 7-0 in the bottom of the sixth inning when the rains came and washed out a further action in Tournament Thursday night at Kelly Field.

The game will be continued at a later date. Tonight's card will feature two teams that battled in a 32-inning game in Canton earlier this season. At 9 p.m. Canton Freedom for Congress meets East Greenview Bank's Tavern.

Canton beat E. Greenville 1-0 in that marathon with the loser's pitcher fanning 46 Canton batters. Chuck Hatfield will pitch for Canton. He shut out Herron Transfer 9-0 on five hits last Wednesday.

At 7 p.m. tonight, the New Brighton, Pa. AC plays Massillon Superior Meats while at 8 p.m. Canton Dupont Sports plays Salem Jack's Sohio.

At 5:45 p.m., Lincoln Machine will meet Salona Supply in a game which will determine the opponent for Salem Drive-I in the city Class A championship playoffs.

SATURDAY
7. Stepanik's Tavern vs Herron Transfer

8. Akron Red's Bar vs Youngstown Aerolite

9. Findly Ohio Oil Co. vs Scott's Candy

On a happy note the two who most deserved to smile were Columbia's Buff Donelli and Ohio State's Woody Hayes.

Donelli, who rarely had much to smile about last year, was so pleased with his squad's progress that he cancelled this morning's workout.

Hayes, a seemingly perpetual smiler, did a double-donk when he saw ace halfback Don Clark double in pain Thursday. He first thought it might be a recurrence of a groin injury that handicapped Clark last year. It turned out to be too much hot weather and Clark was set to go after a brief rest.

POWER—Here is an exaggerated view of the hands and the wrists which are sweeping Ernie Banks of Chicago Cubs to the major league home run and runs-batted-in championships.

Credit Is a Prime Asset to You

It's Your Pocketbook

There is a new propaganda note sourding in our land.

The tune is this: Going into debt is one way to beat the high cost of living.

The theory behind it: When you go to repay what you've borrowed, the dollar will be worth less.

This is hardly the way to beat inflation.

So far as can be determined, we as a nation have had the good sense not to overextend our credit despite all the temptation put in our way.

Of our 56 million spending units only 59 per cent report some short-term debt other than home mortgages or charge accounts. Of those using consumer credit, three-fifths owe less than $500.

OUR MONETARY SYSTEM — unlike that of the Soviet Union — welcomes the use of consumer credit. Few of us could consume all the cars or other durable goods we desire if we had to pay cash outright. Yet when we go too heavily into debt, we must wait until we pay some of our creditors before we start on another spending spree.

So, it is only credit in moderation that is really good for our economy.

How can you be sure that you are not going too deeply in debt?

The best yardstick is to sit down and figure that if you don't owe a penny more than 20 per cent of your annual income you're all right. If you do owe more, you might get into serious trouble when an emergency arises.

As a debtor, what are the rules of etiquette that you should observe?

No. 1. Pay your bills as they fall due. Not only will everyone love you, but you will be saving money. Too often we forget that borrowing whether from a bank, a credit union, a finance company or by installment or time purchases, costs money.

No. 2. If you are unable to meet a payment, get in touch with your creditor, explain why. There is little doubt that he will lend a sympathetic ear. He may have been in your shoes once.

WHILE THE extension of credit plays an important role in keeping the economy on an even keel, having a credit rating — a good one — is an important tool for you.

Prospective employers will judge you by your credit standing just as those who extend you credit judge you by the type of job you hold. While good credit risks are found in all walks of life, workers for well established companies, government employees, physicians, lawyers, and clergymen are coveted.

If you are planning on going into business for yourself a good credit rating is a must. No one will respect you for the dollars you have stashed into the strong box under your bed.

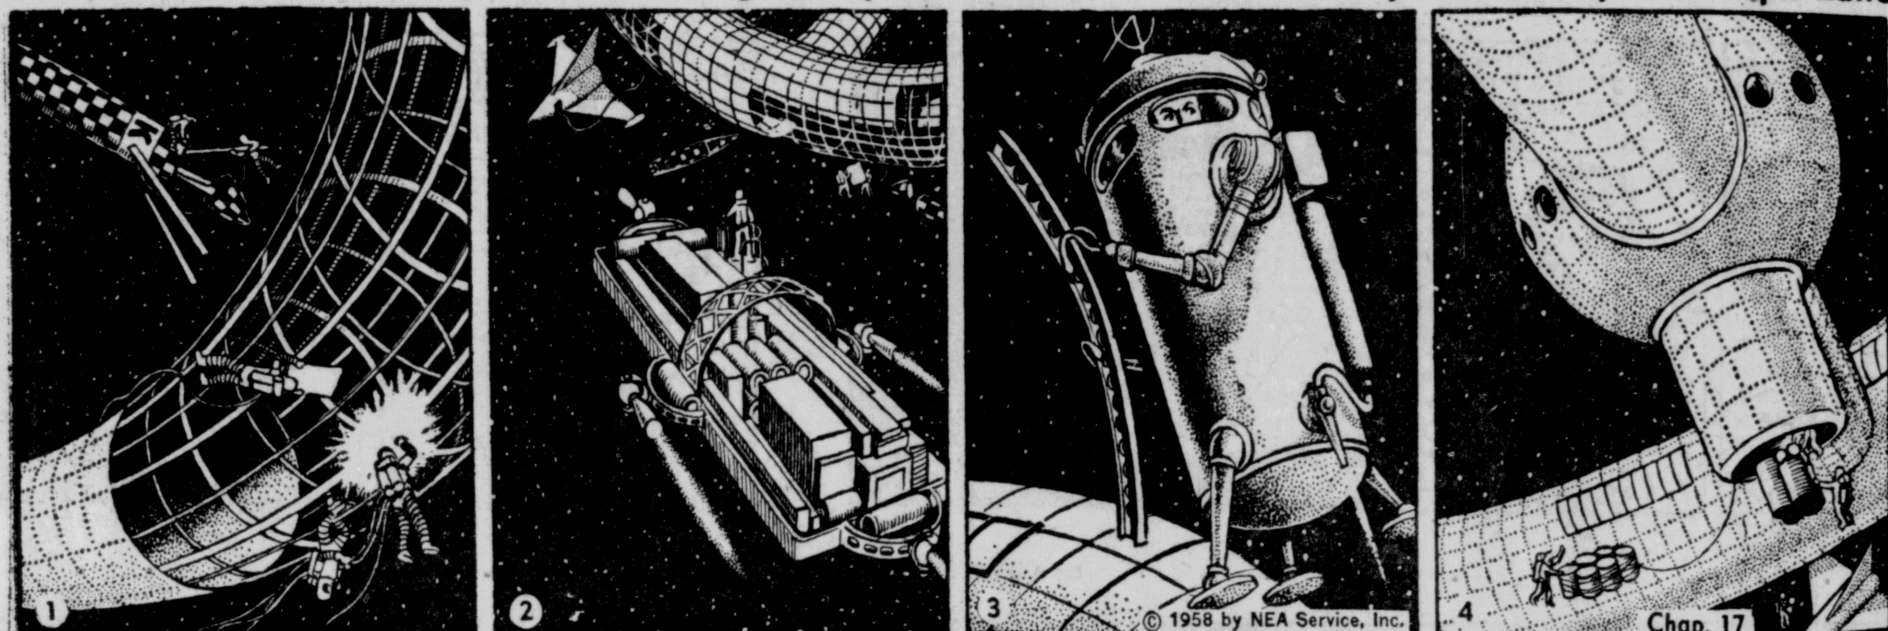

Your bank account, the record of your mortgage, if you have one, payments to your local tradespeople, quite suddenly form an important part of your "stock in trade."

Remember, once you start using credit into the files of the Associated Credit Bureau of America goes your name along with a hundred million others and the credit men's eyes are on you.

AGREE ON CONTRACT — DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The National Cash Register Co. and the National Cash Register Employees Independent Union have agreed on a new two-year contract for the NCR plant here, the company announced Wednesday. The new contract calls for wage increases of 15 cents an hour or 2 1/2 per cent of base pay, whichever is greater, effective May 29, 1959.

OUTWARD TO THE STARS (17)—Building the Space Station

By Don Oakley and Ralph Lane

(1) Enormous difficulties must be overcome before the building of a permanent manned space station is feasible. But its construction will be easy in one respect, if only in one: The absence of gravity (actually, Earth's gravity canceled by centrifugal force in orbit) will enable men to maneuver huge girders and plates about like feathers.

On the other hand, the human problem alone will be tremendous. Each worker's spacesuit must be a self-contained "world." The need for eating and sleeping quarters will limit the number of men able to work at one time. Sudden movements from shadow into unfiltered sunlight will be a real danger to a worker's eyes. Spacesuit failure will mean death. Other factors, some as yet unknown, may cut actual working time to a few hours.

(2) A strange-looking craft is this cargo ferry or space taxi. Platforms like this will scurry about in orbit, gathering materials and supplies from cargo rockets.

(3) Recent discovery, by means of the tiny Vanguard I satellite, of a band of hitherto unsuspected intense radiation some 600 miles above the Earth may seriously hinder man's dream of space travel. Some sort of protective "suit" such as this may be required for any prolonged stay in space.

A thick, lead-lined cylinder, it is a tiny spaceship in its own right. Explorer IV now in orbit is probing the nature and extent of this strange band of radiation.

(4) Months will be required to construct the shell of the space station. Then more months to finish the interior, install instruments and equipment. Here, the completed station is ready to be provisioned. Zero gravity condition at the hub facilitates the loading of supplies. In the central ball, spacesuits can be removed. Tubes lead to the main sections of the station in the rim.

Next: Inside the Station, the Moon Rocket.
